

1. What is the Recreation Fee Subsidy Program (RFSP)?

The Recreation Fee Subsidy Program (RFSP) helps people of all ages living in Richmond who are in financial hardship. RFSP participants receive financial support for many registered and drop-in parks, recreation and cultural programs offered by the City of Richmond and Community Associations and Societies.

2. What is financial hardship?

Financial hardship is when a person has trouble paying for basic living costs such as food, clothing, housing, and does not have savings or other financial resources.

3. Who is eligible?

- Richmond residents
- All ages (preschool, children, youth, adults and seniors)
- Individuals who receive government financial assistance and those who do not receive government financial assistance but are in financial hardship

4. Who can submit an application?

- Individuals (19+ years) and families are welcome to apply.
- A family is defined as one or two adults, married or common-law, and their children (legal dependants 18 years and under and 19–24 years if enrolled full-time at a post secondary institution or in an Adult Graduation Diploma program) who live in the same household.
- If multiple families share a household, each family must apply separately.
- If other family members share the household (e.g. aunt or uncle, grandparents, adult children 19+ years not attending full-time post-secondary education or an Adult Graduation Diploma program), each family member or couple must apply separately.

5. I receive government financial assistance – how do I get copies of required documents?
